

MISSION SHAKTI

SHAKTI, POWER, AND WOMEN are spelled differently but mean same. Empowerment of women and their anatomy is the need of the hour. APSJC organized an impactful workshop in collaboration with Social Welfare Department J&K based on the nationwide initiative 'Mission Shakti,' which focuses on the empowerment and development of women across India. Resource persons Shagun Manchanda, District Mission Coordinator and Khushboo Kapte, Gender Specialist, highlighted the importance of recognizing and harnessing the inner strength of women. The workshop specifically addressed crucial topics such as the menstrual cycle and hygiene, aiming to educate girls on these essential aspects of their health. Additionally, it emphasized the convergence of all government initiatives under 'Mission Shakti,' including health services, helplines, business loans, skill development, educational training, and online services, to create a robust support system for women. These services ensure that women, including those who are differently-abled, socially and economically marginalized, receive holistic support. The workshop successfully raised awareness among female students about the substantial support provided by the government for their development and empowerment.
